STRIKERS WANT PRESIDENT TO INDICT TRUST

Resolutions Have Been Prepared Informing the Chief Executive Evidence Is at Hand to Carry Out Terms of Injunction.

CHARGE THAT COMBINE FOR CONTROL IS IN EFFECT

Threaten to Cut Off Chicago's Meat Supply by Calling Employees From Independent Plants, Should Shops Buying From Trust Not Be Cut Off.

STRIKERS DENOUNCE CHICAGO OFFICIALS.

CHICAGO, July 30.—At a meeting of the leaders of the strike, a resolution was adopted condemning the city administration, including Mayor Harrison, Chief of Police O'Neill and Inspector Hunt. It was decided at the meeting to appeal to Sheriff Thomas Barrett for protection. What benefit the strikers hope to derive from an appeal to the county officers is known only to themselves.

CHICAGO, July 30.—At a meeting of the allied trades, which was held today, it was disclosed that a resolution had been prepared demanding that President Roosevelt give word that the United States district attorneys all over the country begin criminal prosecution against the big packing plants, which two years ago were threatening to combine from combining to fix prices, not only upon finished products, but upon livestock.

When the resolution will be sent to the President is not yet known. It is said President Donnelly will confer with Secretary Cole of the butchers' union concerning it.

It is to be urged upon the President that the best interests of the entire country are prejudiced by the great strike which has affected all parts of the country, and that widespread misery has been caused.

Addressed to President Roosevelt, the original resolution for consideration by the allied trades, but which was somewhat modified after consideration, is as follows:

"Aware that a strike of over 5000 workmen engaged in the packing plants of the United States is now pending and the packers have opened a fight with the object of disrupting the labor organizations involved; and,

"If this struggle continues it will result in widespread misery and labor war that will only have disastrous effect upon the public as well as upon those directly concerned.

"Feeling that the crisis is a grave one, we appeal to you for intervention to secure for us a just and equitable settlement of our grievances, which have been of long duration.

"One word from you will inevitably bring about an adjustment of the present controversy, as the evidence is clear that government secured a permanent injunction against the meat trust is also sufficient to induce before a federal grand jury every man engaged in this conspiracy to control the prices of livestock and the meat food product handled by the packing industries."

Roosevelt may look like a farmer, but Parker is one.
We won with Walbridge in St. Louis, but it didn't do St. Louis any good.

The railroad pass is a small but effective bribe, whether it goes to a delegate, a legislator or a judge.

The Democratic ticket is loaded with Cook and Allen, the Republicans with Walbridge. Voters will know where to scratch.

When a man and his wife will walk more than 1000 miles and carry the baby to see the big show in St. Louis, the world may rest assured that there is something here to see.

GRADE CROSSINGS MUST GO.
Mrs. Laura Bugot, who was injured when a locomotive struck a street car at the grade crossing of the Wabash tracks, says that the conductor was collecting fares as the car approached the crossing. The Post-Dispatch has called attention to the fact that safety gates required by law are not in use at this crossing. Two accidents within a few weeks showed that immediate action is necessary in order to make this crossing reasonably safe.

But the grade-crossing problem will not be solved by any half-way measures. Conductors will be careless; watchmen at gates will be off their guard; brakes and other safety appliances will fail to work at the critical moment. Above all, trolleys will slip the wire just when a train may be approaching. The very existence of the grade crossing is a constant menace to life.

Chicago has caused the elevation or depression of miles of track, at great cost, in order to do away with grade crossings. The result has been a gratifying reduction in accidents. Public opinion is demanding a similar step in New York and all other large cities. But the Municipal Assembly of St. Louis is permitting the construction of additional crossings at grade and doing nothing to put St. Louis in line with progressive cities in the matter of railway crossings.

The grade crossing must go. Citizens who take an interest in public matters must bring their influence to bear on the city authorities to abolish these death traps.

The action of a number of merchants, manufacturers and railway managers, in closing today, in order to enable their employees to see the World's Fair, will meet with public approval. It is to be hoped that the movement will be widespread, so that Railroad and Transportation Day may be a record-breaker. It would be well to make Saturday after a general holiday, while the Fair lags and business is naturally slack, so that all who desire to may see the test of international expositions, not once only, but many times. In this way St. Louis can do her share to bring the uses in to this people's show, for which they have paid which was intended for their education.

AUTOS ON THE WAY.

About one hundred automobiles are now on the way to St. Louis from eastern cities. And a great many more are expected to start in time to reach here by Aug. 11, which is automobile day at the World's Fair.

This automobile test, on a large scale, will doubtless prove a far more valuable object lesson than any of the fast and dangerous long distance races held in Europe. The machines en route to St. Louis are not on a fast schedule, but are expected to make the run with as much certainty as the limited trains on the steam railroads. An average of 100 miles a day will make the trip reasonably safe, while permitting of much enjoyment on the way.

This is a wholesome and instructive manner of using the automobile. The fortunate riders will have a far better opportunity of observing and becoming acquainted with the country than railway passengers can have. And every one of the tourists will become an ardent disciple of the good roads movement. It is to be hoped that they will all adhere to the program in regard to running at moderate speed, thus proving to the people everywhere that automobiles are not necessarily "devils' chariots," fraught with peril to the rider and the wayfarer.

The option on a loan of $1,000,000 to be supplied by St. Louis banks and trust companies is another conspicuous example of the loyalty and liberality of St. Louisans in relation to the World's Fair. St. Louis men and St. Louis resources will be back of this loan should it be made. It will signalize the faith of St. Louisans in St. Louis and will testify to St. Louis energy, liberality and pluck. It is to be hoped that the loan will not be needed, that the Exposition's business will suffice to meet the company's obligations, but whether needed or not it testifies to the solidity and sufficiency of St. Louis, which has proved equal to all the demands of the gigantic World's Fair project.

THE STEER AND THE BYSTANDER.

If 200 shots miss a runaway steer on the crowded streets, how many innocent bystanders are killed?

This conundrum was of very pressing practical interest to pedestrians who chanced to cross the line of retreat and pursuit when a wild steer started from Thirtieth and O'Fallon streets Friday morning with an ever growing posse of police in hot pursuit.

Since nobody was killed everybody can afford to laugh at the incident. But it might have been different. Between the beginning and the end of the chase a large number of innocent bystanders must have escaped the bullets. Had they not escaped there would have been a funeral, not a joke.

A policeman's marksmanship is naturally poor. This seems to be the law, as it were, the natural thing. But when he is excited it is wild; what madness therefore to try to hit a wild steer.

The steer, however, is dead. Let the innocent bystanders rejoice, and let policemen restrain their desire to shoot at living things. First get busy to stand still, then shoot.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

TOO SWIFT A PACE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I wish to make complaint at the high rate of speed in which some cars of the St. Louis Transit Co. are propelled. I got on No. 1556 of Lee Avenue line, which scarcely be stopped comfortably. The car traveled at a high rate of speed even around curves. With the poor equipment on that division, it is extremely dangerous if you are to ride in automobiles and bicycles, let us stop the cars. If you prefer walking and automobiles and bicycles, let us stop the rate of speed. Everyone wanted rapid transit, and they have got it. Now we have the same thing that we had in 1901. To show the rate of speed, not long ago a car ran off the track onto the sidewalk and broke a shutter off the door of a house. A READER.

MUSIC AT FOREST PARK.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I would like to shake hands with "A Music Lover" for starting, or trying to have music in Forest Park a few Sunday evenings before winter comes.

We don't drink beer or care to go to the gardens, but everyone wants the music? Everybody wants it—so hup up, do.

Can't we have the music?—MISS M. S.

A NOISY LOCOMOTIVE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Will you kindly tell me what is the record of the locomotive, C. C. St. L. (Big Four) No. 378, which, standing on a turntable in the middle of the Transportation building, makes daily so much noise?

It seems to me that if it is an advertisement only, they should have put the only thing out of doors on the north side of the building.

If all the locomotives standing in the Transportation building should make as much noise, nobody would be able to stay there.

It is a pity a man is obliged to stay near the ugly noise-maker.

THE WAR IS ON.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In Missouri today we have two great forces drawn up in battle array. Which one shall win? The world must decide. On the side of the former, reformed, headed by that noble gentle man of courage and honor, Joseph Folk, supported by the best citizens of all political parties. Arrayed against him is the world's most powerful nation, headed by that most terrible and supported by the pie-counter people of the Republican party, and the boudoir element of the Democratic party.

Mr. Folk is the only political wire-puller possible, while Mr. Folk is too busy catching boulders to look to his own political success; he has numerous prosecutions which, owing to the smallness of the cases, will not then have been disposed of before the election. Therefore Mr. Folk, feeling that his services to the state are now more important than his personal popularity, has given up his office and is now a candidate for the office of attorney-general.

With these facts before us, it behoves every good citizen of our great country, no matter what his party, to fly to the rescue. Let us continue the war of extermination which our circuit attorney has so nobly begun. Let every American within this commonwealth take the stump and preach the cause of purity in politics.

FOLK'S SUCCESSOR AS CIRCUIT ATTORNEY.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
That the new office of the state in the proper filling of which will the people of the city of St. Louis should interest themselves, it is the office of circuit attorney. When Mr. Folk leaves it in his term of office, who will carry on the work?

It is more probable that the Kratz and Butler cases will not then have been disposed of before the election. Therefore Mr. Folk, feeling that his services to the state are now more important than his personal popularity, has given up his office and is now a candidate for the office of attorney-general.

FOLK'S SUCCESSOR AS CIRCUIT ATTORNEY.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
That the new office of the state in the proper filling of which will the people of the city of St. Louis should interest themselves, it is the office of circuit attorney. When Mr. Folk leaves it in his term of office, who will carry on the work?

It is more probable that the Kratz and Butler cases will not then have been disposed of before the election. Therefore Mr. Folk, feeling that his services to the state are now more important than his personal popularity, has given up his office and is now a candidate for the office of attorney-general.

SAFETY-BELT WAS HIS DEATH-TRAP

LINEMAN STURMER WAS HELD CAPTIVE ON LIVE WIRE HIGH ON CROSS-ARMS OF POLE.

WAS RESCUED WHEN TOO LATE

HAD STRAPPED HIM TO POLE TO PREVENT FALLING AND COULD NOT EXTRICATE HIMSELF.

Death, instead of safety, came to Albert E. Sturmer of Belleville from a big leather belt which he wore to keep himself from falling from a pole on which he was working.

The belt held him so tightly after he had touched a live wire through which sent a current of 200 volts through his body, that he could not free himself and break the connection. The current passed through his body, causing him to faint and fall from the pole, and a fireman, risking his life in the tangled network of wires where Sturmer lay, unfastened the belt and carried him to the ground. It was too late to save the spark of life left in his limp body, and he died without regaining consciousness.

Sturmer, a lineman employed by the Belleville Gas and Electric company, was regarded as one of the best linemen in the city. He gave his attention to the care with which he did his work.

An acute sense of the danger from electrocution in the score of wires through which he daily climbed made him use every precaution with them. The danger of falling from the high wires caused him at one point when he worked, taught him to rely on what is called a "safety belt," a broad strap of leather, which, when snapped about the waist, around the chest, holds him steady and allows him to use both hands while the climbing irons strapped to his feet held him.

All day Friday, Sturmer was busy stringing wires. Late in the afternoon he climbed up a pole and began his task to complete his last task for the day.

He climbed carefully through the other wires on the cross-arms and fastened his safety belt about the pole, where he finished his work.

Starting to descend, his hand came in contact with a wire carrying a 200-volt current while his foot touched another wire below. There was a bright flash, and working man fell limply and hung by the safety belt. His hand still gripped the wire, because the belt did not allow him to let go enough to break the connection.

If he had worn no belt, other linemen say, he would have fallen to the ground, but his life would probably have been saved.

For 15 minutes Sturmer lay with the current burning his skin and slowly straining his muscles. Then Capt. Jacob Wilderman of the fire department, risking his own life, cut the safety belt and brought him down. Efforts to revive him failed, and he died in a few minutes.

At 4 A.M. he held Friday night a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Sturmer was 20 years old and unmarried.

His mother and brother live in Lancaster, O. He had been in Belleville about one year.

PATRICK KELLEY, WHO, GRIEF STRICKEN, IS STARVING HIMSELF TO DEATH

GRIEF-STRICKEN HE STARVES HIMSELF

PATRICK KELLEY'S SORROW FOR HIS WIFE MAY SOON REUNITE THEM, PHYSICIANS SAY.

DAUGHTER'S EFFORTS USELESS

FOR SEVEN DAYS SHE PLEADED WITH HIM TO EAT, BUT HE TOUCHED NOTHING.

A self-imposed fast which has lasted 10 days has made Patrick Kelley, aged 51 years, of 122 Clark avenue, so weak at the City Hospital, where he is a patient, that physicians say he will die. Kelley starved himself because of acute grief for his wife, who has been sick and unable to leave France.

After refusing to eat anything for seven days, beginning July 20, he became so weak that his daughter, Maggie, aged 19, with whom he lived, had him taken to the City Hospital.

Since Tuesday he has been kept alive at the City Hospital by liquid nourishment, which was forced down his throat.

He steadily refused to take solid food and only with difficulty have the physicians been able to compel him to take enough liquids to sustain life.

As a result he is now unconscious and the doctors say he will soon join the wife for whom he has grieved.

Kelley was a laborer and was devoted to his wife and only daughter. When she became ill and died in June his sorrow was so great he could not return to his work. After the funeral he remained at home, and in spite of the efforts of his daughter to comfort him, he grew morose, brooding over his loss.

In a few days he became ill although he was apparently suffering from no disease. His appetite failed and he ate so little his daughter was afraid he would starve.

She pleaded with him to eat but he only shook his head and made no comment. A week ago Wednesday he refused food altogether, and from that time until now, except nothing which his daughter could prepare in her efforts to tempt his appetite.

While ill Kelley did not seem particularly ill, but he seemed to be growing weaker every day. He was silent most of the time, and his daughter knew he was thinking of his mother.

Tuesday of this week she determined that her father would not receive any more attention, so she notified the police and he was taken to the City Hospital.

There Kelley accepted all the treatment given him, but for a week he did not improve. Then the physicians began forcing liquids down his throat, and have continued that since his return to the hospital, though he has fought it with his failing strength.

Kelley is suffering from nothing but starvation, the only time if he could have had it, he did not take food a week ago his life could have been saved.

Now he is unconscious, and his death is said to be the question of only a short time.

FRANCO-VATICAN RUPTURE COMPLETE

DELCAUSE REPLIES TO POPE'S NOTE BY ORDERING REPRESENTATIVES TO LEAVE VATICAN.

PARIS, July 30.—It is officially announced that the rupture is complete. The holy see's lengthy reply to the French charge d'affaires reached Foreign Minister Delcause last night, and the papal nuncio to France has been instructed to leave Paris.

It is not expected that the rupture will bring any immediate consequences beyond the recall of the French ambassador and the suppression of the embassy and nunciature, as the position of the concordat remains unaltered by the action. Consequently, fresh developments are improbable until the arrival of the new legation comes to Rome.

Diplomatic courtesy forbids the publication of the French answer until the Pope's note to the French Foreign Minister comes to hand.

Election Went Wrong.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 30.—Sgt. George Burr, whose efforts to grow half an inch in order to be eligible for a commission have been successful, was defeated in the lieutenantcy election of company H. of Worcester, Second Massachusetts Militia.

Burr's device for growing was a harness one of his companions holding his head while he pulled it. He claimed that his height was increasing and underwent treatment only a few minutes before the election.

Triple A and Central Y. M. C. A. Are Represented by Some Athletes Who Have Marks.

Crack teams of the Western Association of the A. A. U. will enter the lists and compete for championship honors at the Stadium at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Eight of the teams are local. The one outsider, Kansas City, has sent 10 well-trained men. Two members of this team have already earned national reputations and one man has an international reputation.

The nine teams entered are: The Missouri A. C., Triple A, Kansas City A. C., First Legion, Oklahoma University, Jefferson County, Colorado Springs T. V., St. Louis T. V., Central Y. M. C. A.

Each team has its bright and particular stars upon whom their hopes are placed. With men like Moulton and Gallagher backed by other strong men, the Kansas City team may win the coveted banner.

Coach Bassett of the Missouri Athletic Club says his men are in excellent trim, and, barring the 100 and 200 yard dashes, the team will win. The performance of yesterday gives weight to this statement.

J. C. Putzell will wear the colors of the triple A. While his performances will be cannot be described as his record is not known in the West. He will have a great chance to make good in the scratch events. The strongest man in the team is Turner, who has won the titles of the Oklahoman University team. He is in record of even time over a bad track for the hundred, and will probably land in the meet.

Central Y. M. C. A. has a small but exciting record. It seems to be the cream of the city. In the dashes, has a formidable record, and will doubtless land a place.

The entry for the meet is not yet final, but has been reported from a similar event, but the quality is by far the best that has ever competed in a western amateur meet.

A gold medal emblematic of the Western Association A. A. C. will be given in each event, silver to second and bronze to third. The trophy will be the same as the official banner emblematic of the team championship title.

The entries are: 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, mile run, two-mile run, running high jump, running broad jump, putting 16-lb. shot, throwing 22-lb. hammer, throwing 16-lb. weight, pole vault, 120-yard hurdles, 200-yard hurdle.

The amateur meeting of the Western A. A. U. championships was held at the stadium yesterday afternoon. Missouri A. C. had a difficult time in the meet, and of the members of the Club, the distance club show up as well today as did yesterday, they should stand a good chance of winning.
